

Install guide for (2014-2017 Factory Ram 1500 7SP GPS Navigation 8.4AN RA3/RA4 Radio Upgrade)

Before you begin, make sure to checkout our install video. We spend a good amount of time getting these videos just right so that they will be a helpful guide.

Part lists

- RA3/RA4 Radio
- 911 cable
- 8.4" OEM Bezel*
- HVAC Module*
- Bezel Harness*

*Only included if the options selected at time of ordering or the type of radio ordered.

Tools required for installation, socket sizes & whatnot.

- Light Source
- Pry Tool
- Flathead Screwdriver
- Philipshead Screwdriver
- T20 Torx Screwdriver
- 7mm Wrench/Socket
- 13mm Wrench/Socket

Skill Level: 2

Time Investment: 1-2 hours

Step 1: We will start by removing the rubber mat from above the radio.

Step 2: Under the mat you'll find two T20 screws, remove them.

Step 3: The rest of the factory bezel are only held in with retainer clips. Using your pry tool or flathead screwdriver to pry the factory bezel up.

Step 4: Lean the factory bezel toward yourself and disconnect all the connections.

Note: Take a picture before disconnecting anything for your reference.

Step 5: To remove the factory radio, there are four 7mm screws that need to be removed.

Step 6: Lean the radio toward yourself and disconnect the connections at its rear.

Note: Again take a picture of the connections for your reference.

Step 7: To swap the factory bezel with the new 8.4" bezel you'll need to remove thirteen philipshead screws from around the factory bezel. Once all the screws are removed, place the factory bezel off to the side.

Step 8: Slide the new 8.4" bezel into place and secure it with the thirteen philipshead screws.

Step 9: Next lets install the HVAC module. Start by removing the trim panel on the passenger side with your pry tool. It is only held in with retainer clips.

Step 10: Next remove the glove box. Open the glove box and push in the tab on the right side. This will release then you can angle the glove box down to release fully, place it off to the side.

Step 11: You'll see two openings for the two screws on the HVAC module to slide into from the glove box side. Both screws are philipshead.

Step 12: Take the HVAC harness and plug it into the HVAC module you just mounted.

Step 13: Route the other side of the HVAC harness to behind the radio cavity.

Step 21: Once the HVAC harness has been installed, reinstall the glove box.

Step 22: Reinstall the trim panel on the passenger side.

Step 23: Connect the HVAC harness to the factory wiring that went to the old factory bezel.

Step 24: Let's install the RA3/RA4 radio. Connect all the factory connections that went to the old radio. White fakra for AM/FM, Yellow fakra for GPS/XM antenna, Red fakra for digital backup camera for newer vehicles, gray USB hub connection, and the 52 pin black connector for all other signals.

Note: Connect the 911 cable to the purple fakra connection.

Step 25: Mount the radio in place with the four 7mm screws.

Step 26: Reinstall the bezel, reconnect all connections plus the new connector for the bezel. Push the bezel into place till you hear the retainer clips engage.

Step 27: Reinstall the two T20 screws above the radio.

Step 28: Put the rubber mat into place to cover the screw holes.

Step 29: Start the vehicle and the new radio should power on.

Note: RA3s will not have the Nav icon as they don't have built in Navigation from factory. It can be activated by a dealership for an unknown amount.

Note: When first installing an UConnect 4 or 5 radio in your Chrysler-based vehicle, you'll notice some features missing, such as your XM icon, incorrect splash screen, incorrect themes, heated & cooled seats and steering features, back up camera, no touch function, ghost touching on the screen, no AC, no sound unless you touch the screen and more. This will resolve itself, after turning off the vehicle, and letting it sleep an accumulative 48 hours. The backup camera may take the entire 48-hour period though. If there are any issues after that let us know.

Step 30: Enjoy your purchase and again thank you for choosing Infotainment.com for your upgrades.
