- Steering Wheel Column Cover
- Genie Programmer
- Security Gateway Module Bypass

Tools required for installation, socket sizes & whatnot.

- Light Source
- Pry Tool
- Flathead Screwdriver
- 7mm Wrench/Socket
- 10mm Wrench/Socket

Skill Level: 2

Time Investment: 1-2 hour

Step 1: Start with removing the trim from around the radio. This can be removed with pry tool or just your fingers. Panel is only held in with retainer clips.

Step 2: Remove the trim from below the radio controls. It is only held in with retainer clips.

Step 3: Open the center console armrest then remove the trim panels on both sides of the center console. Start pulling to the side the part of the panel closest to the armrest. Panel is only held in with retainer clips.

Step 4: Remove the four 7mm screws from below the radio.

Step 5: Once the four screws were removed you can pull the HVAC controls.

Step 6: Disconnect the HVAC controls and place the HVAC controls off to the side.

Note: Take a picture of the connections, this will make it easier to remember how to make the re-connect the connections.

Step 7: You can now remove the center console trim panel. It is only held in with retainer clips. Pull directly up.

Step 8: Remove the floor of the cubby and the rubber mat.

Step 9: There are three 10mm bolts holding the cubby in place. Remove the cubby and place to the side.

Note: You'll reuse the three 10mm bolts.

Step 10: Take your new shifter and plug in the supplied shifter harness.

Note: The connector only goes in one way and has a locking tab that needs to be down to plug in the connector. While you are pushing the connector down the locking tab will move to the vertical position.

Step 11: Pull up on the cubby with the USB hub, it is only held in with retainer clips. You only need to move it up just enough to route the harness.

Note: Pull harness through as you place stowable shifter into place.

Step 12: You can now secure the stowable shifter into place with the three 10mm bolts.

Step 13: Place the cover into place on the stowable shifter then the rubber mat.

Step 14: Next you need to remove the knee bolster. Start by pulling the bottom panel down to expose the two 7mm screws.

Step 15: You can now remove the knee bolster as it is only held in with retainer clips.

Step 16: Adjust the steering wheel up to give you more space to work.

Step 17: Remove the three 7mm screws from the bottom of the steering wheel column.

Step 18: Remove the fabric steering wheel cover with your pry tool.

Step 19: Pull the steering wheel cover apart. It is only held together now with plastic clips. Pull the top/bottom cover off and discard.

Step 20: Next is to remove the column shifter. Start with the two 8mm bolts. There is a single 10mm bolt on the other side holding the column shifter.

Step 21: You can see the 10mm bolt and the factory connector you need to disconnect. This factory connector will mate to our stowable shifter harness.

Step 22: You can now remove the factory column shifter and place it to the side.

Step 23: Route the stowable shifter harness up where the red arrow is located. With your other hand where the green arrow is located pull the stowable shifter harness through.

Note: Zip tie along the way for the neat and clean finish.

Step 24: Route the stowable shifter harness till you can plug it into the factory connector you disconnected earlier.

Note: Zip tie along the way for the neat and clean finish. Follow the factory harness at the bottom of the steering wheel shaft.

Step 25: Put the new steering wheel column cover into place. Start with the bottom part. Secure into place with the three 7mm screws.

Step 26: Snap in the top steering wheel column cover in place then snap in the fabric cover into place.

Note: The fabric cover has two plastic clips that clip in from the side, the rest of the clips clip in from the top.

Step 27: Install knee bolster and secure into place with the two 7mm screws.

Step 28: Install the center console trim panel. It just clips into place.

Step 29: Install the HVAC controls. Reconnect all connections.

Step 30: Install the four 7mm screws back into place.

Step 31: Install the center console side panels. Put into place at an angle then snap into place.

Step 32: Install the dash trim under the radio controls.

Step 33: Install the trim panel above the radio screen.

Note: Enjoy your new Stowable Floor Console Shifter.
